The Garfield monument is situated in Lake View Cemetery, in the suburbs. It is built of native sandstone, and in form is large and imposing. A tower fifty feet in diameter rises to a height of 180 feet from the ground. At the base of the tower projects a square porch, decorated externally with an historical frieze. The frieze is divided into panels containing life-sized bas-reliefs that represent the career of Garfield as a teacher, statesman, soldier and President. The last panel represents the body lying in...
