Excerpt: . . . this great wickedness, and sin against God So, now in his prison life, Gods love comforted him, and his voice was as plainly heard within those gloomy walls as on the soft hill-side of his beloved Hebron, for God never forsakes his faithful children. Just notice the words, The Lord was with him, and you will understand the reason of his joy. If God be with us there can be no real sorrow. The very jailer looked with favour on the patient Hebrew youth. His religion was one of practice and not of profession only, and, seeing that he might trust him, the jailer gave him all the prisoners in charge, and set him in a place of great confidence and authority, and why because again it says, The Lord was with him, and that which he did the Lord made it to prosper. Josephs...
