Excerpt: . intermediate twilight.-- This, replied I, makes me suspect that we are not far from the equator, or at least between the tropics, where this is of ordinary occurrence: for the twilight is occasioned by the rays of the sun being broken in the atmosphere; the more obliquely they fall, the more their feeble light is extended and prolonged; while, on the other hand, the more perpendicular the rays, the less their declination: consequently, the change from day to night is much moie sudden when the sun is under the horizon. I looked once more out of the tent to see if all was quiet around us. The old cock, awaking at the rising of the moon, chanted our vespers, and then I lay down to sleep. In proportion as we had been during the clay oppressed with heat we were now in the...
