Each large sick ward, whether it contains ten or thirty patients, must have attached to it at least two w.c. s and a slop sink, separated by cross ventilated lobbies. A bath room should also adjoin each large ward. It is therefore clear that the fewer the patients in each ward the larger will be the total number of nurses required in the establishment, and the greater will be the multiplicity of nurses rooms, water-closets, slop sinks, bath rooms, and other sanitary offices. Suppose a hospital, to be designed for the reception of 576 patients, 540 of whom are to be placed in eighteen parallelogram-shaped wards containing thirty each, and the remaining thirty-six in smaller and adjoining separation wards. If the buildings are three stories in height there would...
